

Report for fifth lab

The following image shows the first result obtained where only 'good' matches can be seen.

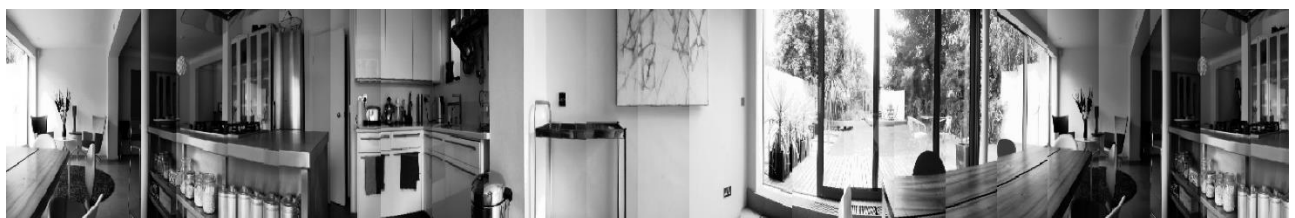

Result [1]

I got a good result by adding images from the end, I noticed that the final result was better than if I added them at the beginning, however the transitions between the photos in Result [2] are very visible, this entails a fragmented image also caused by the numerous images in the folder.

Result [2]

I also tried the kitchen's images (Result [3]) and the result obtained are not perfect, there are some imperfections due to the matches

Result [3]

In the end I report the best outcome that I achieved (Result [4]) using “Dolomites” folders.

Result [4]